Learning Opportunity

K-12 CLASSROOM TEACHERS SUPPORTING COMPLEX STUDENTS ARE ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND.

Working individually is often how many people see the value of LEGO®. LEGO®-also has an inherent and rewarding way of bringing people together.

In this session you will learn how the work of LEGO®-Based therapy, Dr. Eric Carter, and, in particular, the work from the Peer Partner Project can be used together in a meaningful and engaging way for ALL students and ALL ages.

We will dive into knowledge of belonging, access to the general curriculum, ties to STEMS, the Alberta Program of Studies, adolescent friendships and peer relationships for students with significant disabilities.

We will learn and create together.

This learning opportunity is being offered through a grant from Alberta Education.

Presenters

Ann Gardner
